

What is 'Operation Hydro'?

Operation Hydro is a campaign that provides 'premium grade bottled drinking water' to SES units throughout Tasmania. Several pallets (1680 X 600ml bottles per pallet) of water are delivered to the regional offices in Hobart, Launceston and Burnie. The water is then distributed to individual units on a needs basis.

Operation Hydro approaches businesses in the local community with a view to sponsoring bottled water for the SES volunteers' use. Participating businesses will have their business name and phone number printed on the label of the bottles. SES volunteers are encouraged to support these businesses as a demonstration of appreciation.

Being classed as 'premium grade', the bottled water tastes like water is meant to taste and provides a hygienic method of re-hydrating SES volunteers whilst at emergency scenes and training sessions. The water is delivered in boxes of 24 so it is easy to store and is ready to go when there is an emergency call-out.

If you require additional information about Operation Hydro please contact the Tasmania SES Manager Community Safety, Sharon Sherman, on 03 6230 2700 or sharon.sherman@ses.tas.gov.au and she will happily answer any questions.
