About the Office of eGovernment

The Office of eGovernment was established to ensure effective utilisation, investment, and governance by the Tasmanian Government of information in combination with information and communications technology (ICT).

Role

The role of the Office of eGovernment is:

- To support whole-of-government ICT governance arrangements (in particular to support the ICT Policy Board - established to advise the Premier on strategic directions for ICT within government);
- To assist agencies to effectively utilise ICT and build capability to improve productivity, (through the provision of advice and assistance to significant ICT initiatives across the Tasmanian Government, typically focussing on aspects of business case development);
- To provide policy advice and leadership to support the use of ICT within the Tasmanian Government (through the development of appropriate high level standards, guidelines and policies); and

- Supporting whole-of-government intergovernmental relations on the use of ICT and information management.

Priorities for 2012-13

The strategic priorities for the Office of eGovernment for 2012-13 are supporting the agenda of the ICT Policy Board, including:

- Supporting the implementation of the Tasmanian Government ICT Strategy through the ongoing provision of quality strategic and policy advice;
- Supporting the implementation of the ICT Investment and Decision-Making Framework for the Tasmanian Government, which will guide alignment of agency ICT investment plans to directly support the ICT Strategy and government policy;
- Developing and supporting the implementation of the ICT Roadmap for the Tasmanian Government, which will assist and guide in agency ICT planning and implementations, in particular for those ICT services that are common to two or more agencies;
- Establishing an annual ICT benchmarking program for the Tasmanian Government, that will

- examine each agency's past expenditure on ICT, consequently providing a basis for examining priorities for future ICT investment;
- Supporting the development of identified priority ICT business cases, policies, standards and guidelines;
- Advising on cross jurisdictional ICT issues; and
- Providing the secretariat and support for the whole-of-government ICT governance arrangements (see diagram below), including the ICT Policy Board, the Agency ICT Reference Group and related forums.
